are the first hatchlings of this season. The mating season of the Emu is January and February which is fine for "down under" where the seasons are the mirror image of ours but rather uncomfortably chill for that tender period in North America.

The papa Emu is the incubator on his home turf, but, if he took a short walk up here in February his egg is sure to freeze. So Ron Carreau gathers these blue "cannon balls" and places them inside under the constant warmth of the lights of an incubator. Even in the egg, the chicks are active as they approach the time to hatch and the eggs rock and roll with the exercise of the unborn birds. The chickens are cute looking little characters, something that Walt Disney would have loved. They remind you of bumblebees with long necks and huge legs and feet. They wear tan striped coats and, like all babies, are inclined to flock together for courage and support. If startled they all rush for the same corner hiding their heads with back to intruders. Mr. Carreau shown at top of Page 2 shows the size of the adult Emu standing at his side. This bird, a male, almost reaches his shoulder. Adult males vary from 5 to 6 feet in height and weigh about 80 pounds. Adult females weigh

The feathers are mottled in adults varying in color from tan to deep brown to almost white at the base. Each feather has two shafts with the barbs so widely spaced that they don't interlock to form a firm vane but hang loose as hair would. As you can see, the powerful legs don't have any feathers and a running bird can have a stride of 9 feet. They have 3 toes and the underside of each toe

The incubator period is about 8 weeks. At home in Australia, the male incubates the eggs beginning to sit when 5 to 9 eggs have been laid. Each egg weighs 1 to 1½ pounds. The male, once he sits, seldom leaves the nest. He hardly eats and does not drink. He rises daily only to turn the egg. How is that for devotion to duty? Incubation temperature is low compared to others birds: 91° F.

Ron Carreau got into Emu raising quite by accident. He was visiting a friend who had tried, in vain, to hatch some eggs so he sold these eggs to Mr. Carreau who brought them home to Rochester and successfully incubated them. Each chick is much in demand by zoos and each of this present batch is going to a New England zoo. Ron has a deal pending to swap Emu chicks for a very rare tiny deer that is native to India. For any more information on these fascinating transplants from Australia Mr. Carreau can be contacted in Rochester at 763-3768.

Aquaculture License Granted

MATTAPOISETT SELECTMEN'S MEETING
MARCH 13-1990- by VIRGINIA MORGAN

Selectmen last Tuesday granted an aquaculture license to Rodman Taylor, president of Taylor Seafood, Inc. of New Bedford, for the purpose of growing bay scallops in a 100 acre area southeast of Mattapoisett Neck in 22 feet of water. The license fee paid to the town will be $2,500 per year, commencing on May 1, 1990.

Mr. Taylor was granted the license for a period of five years, with the option to apply for a 10-year renewal. The vote was 2 to 1 with Selectmen Chairman Bernard F. Talty opposed. Chairman Talty said he didn't disagree with the theory or the proposal, but he did feel there should be a public hearing. "This is a substantial territory, and I feel with this length of time there should be a public hearing. I would like to have input from users of the area."

Selectmen William F. Hubbard and John DeCosta voted in favor of the license noting that Mr. Taylor said there would be benefits to Mattapoisett, including increased employment, increase in scallop settling in Mattapoisett waters during the summer spawning period, and donation of scallop juveniles from his hatchery to the town's fishery.

Mr. Taylor explained this bay scallop aquaculture site would be the largest of its kind in the country. The bay scallops are grown in nets which hang off a long-line submerged two feet below the surface. The long lines are anchored at each end with 1,000 pound mushroom anchors, and there will be 175 long lines located on this site. On all four corners Coast Guard approved navigational buoys are placed with radar deflectors and lights, if required. "We will have people on duty 24 hours a day from May through October. At night this consists of a manned 24 foot boat. We have rescued sailors without wind and boaters with no fuel, as well as called attention to the presence of our 50 acre aquaculture site in Fairhaven. Safety is very important to us", Mr. Taylor said.

He also explained the location has been chosen due to its relative inaccessibility to boaters and its underuse by fishermen. "We additionally believe that a bay scallop aquaculture area in Mattapoisett would be beneficial for the environment, the commercial and recreational fisherman, and for the general public", said Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Taylor added that, as a means of promoting goodwill between Taylor Seafood of Mattapoisett, Inc. and the Town of Mattapoisett, his company will donate between 100,000 and 300,000 scallop seeds annually to the town during each year in which the license is in effect and the site is at full production.

Shellfish Constable Brian Nunes commented that Mr. Taylor is taking a chance in that location as the waters are mostly navigable. Mr. Taylor had asked for 15 years, but Constable Nunes said the state allows no more than 10 years. He recommended a five year term to start, with an option for 10 years. Mr. Nunes said, "I have no problem with the license as you will be enhancing the fishery, especially the bay scallops. Our scallop population is almost a total loss. If we can get someone here to enhance our natural resource, I agree with the proposal. This location has no significant resource as the bottom is too harsh for quahogs, and it will not interfere with anything except for the lobster-a few people but not enough to deny the grant.

Mr. Taylor has a license in Fairhaven granted in 1987 to run 10 years with a renewal option for another 10 years. Town Counsel Donald J. Fleming will review the contract. Mr. Taylor has agreed to pay the attorney's fees.

In other business, Selectmen:

APPROVED A CONTRACT with Brown and Lindquist for architectural drawings and bid specifications to construct a new vault in the old police station adjacent to the existing town hall. The cost of $3,500 was appropriated at the 1989 annual town meeting. The inside concrete room, consisting of 5,000 square feet for storage space, would not change the outside appearance of the building.

Selectmen's Administrator Lois K. Ennis said some records are now being kept in a closet on the second floor of the Town Hall. The present vault is very overcrowded. This vault has been needed for a long time, she added.

Granted the Lions' Club permission to use Shipyard Park and the wharf area on July 20th, 21st, and 22nd for the annual "Harbor Days" festival.

The Lions Club requested that the Selectmen or Police Department refrain from issuing Peddler's Permits for the festival for this particular time period. Lions' Club President Donald R. Correia wrote, "As you may or may not know, last year a problem developed with peddlers outside the confines of the park and those within the park who pay a fee to the Lions' Club for booths. This obviously represents a financial burden to those within the park that is not on those outside. As many of our long-time participants have the same items for sale, a financial disadvantage is encountered. If it is not legally possible to not issue those permits we would request that peddlers not be allowed to set up around the outside of the park or on the wharf at all but an area no closer than 1000 feet from Shipyard Park and the wharf."

Selectmen noted this board cannot refuse licenses; they are state licenses. Police Chief James F. Moran commented, after the meeting, the Police Department has no control over licenses to peddlers other than for door-to-door solicitation. The state controls these licenses.

WERE NOTIFIED by the Lions' Club that they will undertake a community project to restore the shade shed at the public beach. Club President Mr. Correia wrote, "We will provide all necessary materials and labor at no expense to the town.

INTO FAMILY EYE CARE

My child needs glasses - should price be a factor?

Well yes and no. Of course you want to get what you can afford but you don't want to go overboard on a child's pair of glasses. When buying your child's glasses consider his or her preferences but just as important consider what he or she needs. Be careful of too many add-ons that are often offered to a patient that are not really necessary. These tend to bring the cost of glasses way up.

WERE INFORMED by the State Division of Marine Fisheries that Angelica Avenue Creek has been redefined and prohibited to the taking of shellfish - "the waters, flats and all tributaries of Pine Island Pond north of a line drawn across the mouth of Angelica Avenue Creek." The remaining portions of Pine Island Pond are reclassified as approved for the taking of shellfish for direct consumption.

Michael Dahill, one of the original members of the Harbor Study Group; Steven Mach, Harbormaster/Wharf Commissioner; Brian Nunes, Shellfish Constable; Arthur McLean, as a member of the commercial marine industry; and three interested residents, Charles Kelley, William Spark and Charles R. Soares.

APPOINTED a Shade Tree Committee to be in charge of selecting the appropriate sites for new shade trees and receiving grants from the state for this purpose. Named to the committee are Tree Warden Marshall W. Pryce, Highway Surveyor Wesley N. Bowman, and Selectman John N. DeCosta.

RECEIVED from Joan M. Walsh, Supt. of the Old Rochester Regional School District, the certification of the 1990-1991 ORR School budget. The budget at $5,802,123, with Mattapoisett's share at $1,844,947.21 is an 8.44% increase over the $1,701,398 as Mattapoisett's share in fiscal 1990.

Miss Walsh wrote, "It has been the committee's practice to estimate receipts at one hundred percent. However, taking into account the uncertain fiscal picture, the committee has underestimated receipts by ten percent of the current Cherry Sheet figure, in effect, increasing the assessment by $118,500. However, should the anticipated shortfall fail to occur, the committee is agreed that it will not assess to the towns the amount for the receipts which are actually received. The committee has worked hard to achieve a reasonable budget which will maintain services to our students. We appreciate your understanding of this unusual treatment of estimated receipts."

WENT INTO EXECUTIVE SESSION with Highway Surveyor Wesley N. Bowman to discuss labor negotiations. Selectman DeCosta excused himself from the executive

Marion Planning Board

TO PRESENT PROPOSED NEW BY-LAWS

The Marion Planning Board will hold a public meeting on Monday, March 26th, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cafeteria of the Sippican School to present the new by-law revisions on which the Board has been working. This meeting is not a formal hearing; it is being held more than a month and a half before the required legal hearing in order to give the Planning Board ample time to consider all well thought out comments of Marion citizens and, where possible, incorporate them into the proposed by-laws and by-law changes by the time of formal hearing.

Among the items on the Planning Board's agenda, not necessarily in order of presentation, will be Signs, Bed and Breakfast; an Open Space Development District; a Waterfront Estate Conversion Option, a Water Supply Protection Revision; a Surface Water District, a Marine Business District Revision; Cluster Revisions and Pier and Waterfront related items.

The Planning Board's planning work is made possible by the money voted by the town last year which enabled the Board to continue to work with Burk Ketcham as their professional planner. This work is guided by the Marion Land Use Plan which was adopted in 1989 and is available on request at the Marion Town House. Also, anyone desiring a copy of the proposed by-law changes may have one but, due to the press of work at the Town House, the Planning Board suggests that a request be phoned in ahead of time.

Joe Tomlinson Award

A "Joe Tomlinson Fellowship Award" is bestowed by the Tri-Town Men's Fellowship -- an interdenominational fellowship -- each year in recognition of unselfish service to others. The award is in memory of Joseph Tomlinson, Jr., who was the leading founder of the Men's Fellowship for the Tri-town area of Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester.

Joe lived less than half a century, yet he encompassed in his lifetime all of the things that endeared him to those who shared his years. As a husband, father, successful businessman, public servant and friend, he gave of himself freely to the betterment of life in his home, his town, and his church. Joe is buried at the entrance to Saint Gabriel's courtyard because he was always so welcoming to others.

To carry forward the spirit of the award in the Tri-town area there have been five recipients: 1985, Davis T. Gallison, MD,

"Garbage is My Bag"

The Rochester Memorial School PTC presents Jack Golden at a special family night Thursday, March 29th, at 7 p.m. in the Memorial School cafeteria.

An unusual environmental expert - a "trashologist" - he is presenting students with facts about overflowing landfills, hazardous wastes, diminishing resources and the necessities of recycling. And while sharing his serious concerns, this self-proclaimed Rajah of Rubbish also sings original rap music, juggles four foot long forks and spoons, turns banana peels into flowers, and fills school auditoriums with laughter.

Golden, who has performed nationally as a circus clown and vaudeville comedian, created and appears as the garbage expert -- or trashologist -- Dr. T Incorporating jokes, juggling and a stage full of props, including a miraculous recycling machine which turns garbage into usable products right on stage, Dr. T presents his young audiences with information about society's garbage crisis and practical techniques for recycling. Garbage, he tells them, is just too good to throw away.

"Garbage is My Bag" developed from Golden's own concern about the environment and his extensive experience in performing for young people. "I've always appreciated how engaged kids are by comic shows, and I wanted to use that power of memorable live performance to get their attention on important issues", says the Greenfield based performer.

Understanding the need for public education in changing waste disposal habits, Golden decided that a show about recycling was a natural. The ultimate goal of the program, he says, is to strengthen children's understanding of the trash dilemmas communities face and how they as individuals can contribute to a solution. "Of course", he adds, "I want to keep them laughing while they are learning."

In addition to his solo performing, Golden is a member of the award-winning New Vaudeville comedy troupe, The Wright Brothers. He was a featured clown with the world-famous Pickle Family Circus of San Francisco.

"Garbage is My Bag" was developed with the support of the Center for the Arts in Northampton and the Hitchcock Center for Environmental Study in Amherst.

There will be no admission charge for this performance; donations only. Please come, bring your family and friends and enjoy the show.

University Sargent Camp in Peterborough, New Hampshire from April 23rd to the 27th.

This program includes activity-based studies of different environments aimed to increase their awareness, knowledge, and appreciation for the natural world. Students will also participate in outdoor adventure-challenge exercises which develop teamwork, trust, communication, and group problem solving. The seventy fifth grade students are looking forward to this experience with great enthusiasm. A bottle drive is planned for March 31st, at the school, to help pay for the cost of the trip.

7th Grade Hearing Dog Campaign

The 7th grade class at Old Rochester Regional Junior High School has decided to raise money to sponsor a hearing dog for a local hearing impaired person. The idea was inspired by a presentation the students experienced last December. Linda Cunningham, who recently lost her hearing through an illness called Meunier's Disease, came to speak to the seventh graders to discuss deafness and relate to them what it's like to be deaf in a hearing world. She briefly touched on the issue of hearing dogs and after she left the students wanted to raise money to give her a hearing dog.

Unfortunately, Linda presently would not meet the qualifications required to have a hearing dog because she lives in a house with her parents and currently has two dogs. The students decided that they would still like to raise money to sponsor a hearing dog for someone in our local area.

Susan Layton, music teacher, and Susan Riley, 7th grade science teacher, contacted Red Acre Farm Hearing Dog Center which is located in Stow, MA. The Center provides a "not-for-profit" effort to supply hearing impaired people with the ability to respond to vital "sounds" of living, helped by animals that might otherwise be destroyed.

The center is very appreciative of the 7th grade efforts. They currently have a person in our local area who has applied for a hearing dog. However, the Center cannot disclose the name yet, pending final approval of the application.

After the applicant is approved, the students will be sent a case history and picture of the person who will be receiving their dog. Red Acre has also forwarded a video tape that the students have seen and some-

STATE AND LOCAL FISCAL CRISIS DISCUSSED

That constraints of Proposition 2½ make state aid to cities and towns a necessity and that ways must be found to raise revenues was the consensus expressed by the speakers at the meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Marion, Mattapoisett, Rochester on Saturday, March 10.

The three speakers, Frank Keefe, former Massachusetts secretary of Administration and Finance, and two local Finance Committee members, Bob Banz of Mattapoisett and Pat Ryan of Rochester, addressed the problems of the present state fiscal crisis.

Mr. Keefe considers that the crisis is solvable. He stated that the state revenue reduction in Massachusetts is paralleled in the other wealthy states but these others have taken steps to solve their problem. Five industrial states, three with Republican governors and two with Democrats, have raised taxes as well as cutting back expenditures.

In the 80s, Mr. Keefe pointed out, Massachusetts came to the aid of the cities and towns negatively affected by 2½ and make up roughly fifty percent of the lost revenue. Also Massachusetts was the only state substantially to help its cities and towns when, under Reagan, the Federal program of General Revenue Sharing was eliminated, Mr. Keefe added; all this without a tax raise since the 70s. At the present time there is a growth of 7.8% in personal income in the state, forecast to be 8% in the coming year, yet tax growth is flat and may become negative.

Mr. Banz emphasized that the work of the Finance Committee is now year-round and one of its greatest problems is getting a budget in place before the start of the fiscal year. He said that education is where there is the greatest need for local aid. Mrs. Ryan said that the lateness of the state's Cherry Sheets contributed to the difficulty of local budgeting. She also pointed out that education takes a tremendous part of the local budget; in Rochester, 90%, and regional schools complicate the

We are sometimes critical of pop culture, claiming that it does not offer us well-grounded guidelines for living. Instead it encourages the shallow, the exciting, the fleeting. We are not encouraged to look any farther, any deeper.

Modern people need to be called back to a deeper and steadier vision of who God is, and how we are called to seek deeper meaning as we encounter one another, to see God's creation, God at work, inside persons and events. This is the foundation to righteous, yet humble living.

The title of the sermon on Sunday, March 25th, at the Mattapoisett Congregational Church will be "Depth Perceptions".

Veterans Up-Date

VETERANS SAVE BILLIONS BY REFINANCING HOMES

Over the past five years, some 375,000 veterans have refinanced home loans guaranteed by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) and in the process earned an estimated $13 billion in long-term personal savings.

The savings in interest payments could amount to $37,000 or more for the typical veteran and are a major benefit to home buyers of the decline in home loan interest rates during the 1980s.

A rise in refinancing VA-guaranteed loans began in the 1985 fiscal year as interest rates declined from historic highs. Veterans in that 12-month period refinanced 13,921 homes valued at $964 million.

Despite the decline in such transactions, there are potential savings for more veterans now than have taken the opportunity during the past five years -- as long as the VA guaranteed interest rate remains at 9.5 percent.

The VA encourages veterans to refinance loans with interest rates that are two points or more higher than the market rate. For lesser differences in rates, refinance costs eat up much of the savings.

A $70,000, 30 year loan at 11.5 percent, for example, has a monthly payment of $693.21 but would result in savings of $104.61 a month if the loan were changed to 9.5 percent. Over a maximum of 360 payments, the savings would amount to $37,659.

This person must prove ownership of a boat suitable for the space within fifteen (15) days of notice that the space is available. Thereafter, the surviving spouse may be assigned said space if said spouse presents to the Selectmen and Commissioner proof of ownership of a boat to be docked in said boat space.
14. Should a person on the Skiff Spot Waiting List refuse the available space offered to him, their name shall be kept on the Waiting List and he shall be offered the next available space. Video: 1938 Hurricane

A WIND TO SHAKE THE WORLD

It was the worst natural disaster in the history of New England, the 1938 Hurricane, killing nearly 700 people. Unexpected and underestimated by the morning radio as "heavy rain", the storm permanently changed much of New England's picturesque coastline. This video documentary created by Everett S. Allen, writer for the Standard-Times in New Bedford, received such a response that our patrons called for weeks after it was seen on local TV, asking if the library had a copy. We are now able to offer this special work on local history to all library patrons in the form of a videotape added to our collection. Call any branch of the New Bedford Free Public Library to find out about the video, or call our Video specialist, Phil Dimor, 991-6275.

at the Greater New Bedford Vocational and Technical High School. The culinary delights pleased the crowd of 800 guests attending the Fourth Annual Men Who Cook dinner, which raised more than $16,000 to benefit the New Bedford Women's Center.

The proceeds directly support the Women's Center in providing health services, resources for battered women and victims of sexual assault. The success of Men Who Cook was especially critical this year, as the Women's Center has experienced deep budget cuts due to the State's fiscal crisis.

More than 200 volunteer chefs shared their time and skills to support the work of the New Bedford Women's Center. Candlelight, flowers and Brazilian jazz added to the festivities. "People love the good food, the chance to socialize, and support a worthy cause" remarked Julie Kelly, Development Director at the Women's Center. "Many sponsors in the business community enabled us to realize an increased profit of $4000 more than last year's event. All in all Men Who Cook feels to us like a community institution."

MOTIVATING EXCELLENCE IN EFFORT

Most school award programs recognize the most gifted and talented youngsters in a school. Old Colony Regional Vocational-Technical High School is no exception with awards programs such as the MASS "Certificate of Academic Excellence", "Principal's Leadership Award", "National Honor Society" and "Outstanding Vocational Student Award", to name a few.

Two teachers at Old Colony decided that it was time to also recognize a student with lesser natural talents, but who exemplifies the highest standards of effort and motivation; students who do the very best they can, with their given talents and ability level.

The result is Old Colony's newest award program, "Excellence in Effort". One sophomore or junior in each of the school's twelve vocational technical programs will be nominated for the award. At a student body assembly, the nominees will be announced and the winners presented with a formal framed certificate and an Old Colony jacket, with the words "Excellence in Effort" printed on the front. In addition, each winner will be a guest for lunch in the Cougar's Den prepared specially by the eye talk

Q. Will sitting too close to the television set harm my children's eyes?

A. No, it is probably not harmful, but it is certainly not recommended.
A child who always sits two or three feet from the screen, however, may be nearsighted. If you spot your child doing this, take him or her to your optometrist for a thorough vision examination.

Sitting further away from the set has its advantages. The picture looks sharper and defects are less noticable. A distance at least five times the picture width is about right.

Also for more comfortable viewing, do not watch television in a dark room. Optometrists recommend soft overall room lighting. Be sure, however, that lights do not reflect on the screen.

POSTER CONTEST

In celebration of Vocational Educational Week, the Old Colony Regional Vocational-Technical High School is holding a poster contest. The theme of the contest is "Career Opportunities that Exist in Vocational Education". Maria (Sonia Manzano) and Luis (Emilio Delgado) will sing some of children's favorite songs from the popular television series, including the show's theme song, and children will be encouraged to sing along.

Ms. Manzano is one of the most popular performers among the pre-school viewers of Sesame Street since joining the cast as the bilingual "Maria". "Kids respond to her warmth and youthful spirit", says executive producer Dulcy Singer. "Her admirers range from two to three year olds to junior high school boys who blush when they catch sight of her." Ms. Manzano also is a writer for the series, and recently received an Emmy award as a member of the writing staff.

Wedding bells rang on Sesame Street for the first time when "Maria" married "Luis" (actor Emilio Delgado) on the 1988 season finale. Since the wedding, episodes of Sesame street have included the beginnings of a family for the two.

Mr. Delgado joined the educational series in 1972, and since then he has helped develop its Spanish Language and cultural curricula. Mr. Delgado's professional acting career includes theatre, films and television. On Broadway he was the original Emilio Fernandez in the musical Working. He also appeared on television in the Lou Grant series where he co-starred as "Ruben Castillo". He also has been seen as Paul Espinola on Falcon Crest.

1989-1990 marks the 21st season for Sesame Street. The enduring Children's Television Workshop series, which has won over 30 Emmy Awards, continues its mission of preparing pre-schoolers for the transition from home to the classroom with a varied and up-to-the minute curriculum. According to the latest Nielson estimates,14 million households with children under six watch the program. The show is also seen in almost
